

DEMOCRATS WILL NAME A SENATOR

Will Have Big Majority in Both Branches of Legislature

GREAT MAINE VICTORY

Inspires Ohio Democrats, Chair- man Nichols Predicting Over- whelming Defeat for G. O. P.

Portland, Me., Sept. 14.—Complete returns of the vote for senators and representatives in the state election yesterday give the Democrats substantial majorities in both branches of the Maine legislature, which at the beginning of the new year will elect a United States senator to succeed Eugene Hale; a secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general and commissioner of agriculture.

The new legislature also probably will be called upon to carry out the declaration of the Democratic party platforms of recent years and resubmit to the people the liquor prohibitory amendment to the constitution and the repeal of the Strugs liquor law enforcement act.

According to unofficial complete returns, the legislature will have a Democratic majority of 36 on joint ballot. The senate will consist of 21 Democrats and 10 Republicans, while the house will have 58 Democrats and 63 Republican members.

The last legislature consisted of 122 Republicans and 60 Democrats the Republicans having a majority of 15 in the senate and 47 in the house.

Practically complete returns today on the vote of the state for governor and lieutenant governor show a Democratic majority of 73,614, and Governor Bert M. Fernald, Republican, 64,912, a plurality for Col. Plaisted of $732, as against a plurality of $864 for Governor William T. Cobb, Republican four years ago.

The total vote of the two leading parties was 128,556. Four years ago it was 130,730.

Doubt still exists regarding the result in the Fourth congressional district. Congressman Frank E. Guernsey of Dover, the Republican candidate, and George M. Hanson of Calais, Democrat, each claiming victory by a small plurality.

In the First district, Asher C. Hinds, Republican is apparently elected by a plurality of about 300, over William H. Pennell, Democrat, and will occupy the seat in congress once held by Thomas B. Reed.

The Second and Third districts will have Democratic congressmen, D. J. McGillicuddy of Lewiston succeeding Congressman John P. Swasey, Republican, in the district which Nelson P. Dingley of Dingley tariff fame, formerly represented, while Samuel W. Gould, of Skowhegan will be the successor to Congressman Edwin C. Burrell, Republican, who has represented the Third district for the last 18 years in congress.

REPUBLICANS IN DANGER.

Columbus, Sept. 14.—Chairman Hugh L. Nichols of the Democratic state executive committee thought it might be possible that the question of the resubmission of the state constitution had to do with the overturning of the legislature, but pointed out the improbability of this local issue having been the determining factor in the election of congressmen.

He said: "The sweeping Democratic victory in Maine has delightfully inspired the Ohio Democrats. The completeness of it is surprising, although we had anticipated a decided shrinkage in the average Republican majority of 20,000."

"Following, as it does, the decrease in the Vermont majority last week, it cannot but signify that the Republican party will meet this year the most signal defeat throughout the nation that it has encountered since the first election of Lincoln."

"I met a veteran Democrat this morning who rejoiced with me over the great victory saying that all the Democrats had to do this year was to stand still and see the salvation of the Lord."

"I replied to him that the salvation of the Lord part was all right, but I couldn't approve the 'stand still' part as we would have to do the Vermont and Maine Democrats did so well, that is, get out and vote."

"The election of Governor Plaisted is really the first straight party victory the Democrats of Maine have won since 1854, as Governor Garcelon in 1879 and Governor Plaisted in 1881 were elected on a fusion ticket."

"Maine has not had a Democratic congressman since the civil war, and no Democratic United States senator since 1864."

"There is no position now occupied by the Republican party in Ohio which they are not in grave danger of losing."

TARIFF DID IT.

New York, Sept. 14.—Geo. Gould expects the Republican party to lose the next congress. He said so yesterday as he arrived from Europe and based that opinion on the sweeping Democratic victory in Maine.

Mr. Gould has always declared himself a member of the Republican party, and reiterated that again yesterday. A passenger said that Mr. Gould even declared that he intended to vote the Democratic ticket himself at the next election.

"I am not surprised to hear of a Democratic victory in Maine," said Mr. Gould to the reporter. "Yes, I have always been a Republican in politics, but the people are not satisfied with the revision of the tariff and they want a change."

"How about Col. Roosevelt?" was asked.

"I do not care to discuss Colonel Roosevelt. I understand he has had a very spectacular tour."

"Why did the Republicans lose Maine?"

"There is no doubt that the people are dissatisfied with the revision of the tariff. They do not like the high cost of living, and they blame that upon the tariff. There is a great deal of uncertainty due to the political situation. It is hard to tell how to make plans for the future under present conditions. I should say the result in Maine indicates a Democratic sweep in congressional and state elections."

"I think that this country is all right. I am an optimist regarding ultimate conditions."

"I believe that business conditions generally will show improvement after the elections. Underlying conditions are good."

DEFENSE SCORES IN THE TRIAL

Crippen's Attorney Gets Damaging Admissions From Expert

DID NOT DETERMINE SEX

Of Remains Supposed to be Belle Elmore Crippen From Anatomical Study.

London, Sept. 14.—At the Crippen trial today Dr. Pepper, government analyst, admitted that when he first saw the remains found in Crippen's cellar he thought they were animal remains. Crippen's attorney, Newton, laid stress on this testimony and on the admission from Pepper that it required close inspection to finally determine what the body was.

Newton has not yet said how he intends combating the government's medical evidence but unless he gets experts to examine the body he will have to fall back on hypothetical questions.

Actors and playwrights are daily attendants at the trial and exhibit great interest in the testimony.

Dr. H. H. Crippen's life depends upon the identification of several strands of human hair.

Under snarled and merciless cross-examination today by Attorney Arthur Newton, Dr. Pepper, the government analyst, practically repudiated much of his former testimony and admitted that it was impossible to determine the sex of the remains supposed to have been the body of Belle Elmore Crippen from an anatomical study of them.

"Isn't this the only way to determine the sex of a body with certainty?" thundered Newton when he saw that he had the government's star witness in a bad corner.

"Yes," was Pepper's reluctant reply.

"You agree with Dr. Marshall, the other government analyst when he declared at the inquest that it was impossible to determine the sex of the remains?" asked Newton, drawing nearer to the perturbed witness.

"I'll admit that it was impossible to determine the sex by anatomical study," replied Pepper.

Newton paused significantly after

London, Sept. 14.—Dr. Crippen and Miss Le Neve will be subjected to the same treatment that is given all offenders in London. Instead of the comfortable seat, as in the United States courts, the two accused will be compelled to stand within an iron railing most of the time while they are on trial. Inside this railing there is a narrow wooden seat or shelf upon which the pair may rest at intervals while arguments or motions are made.

Pepper's admission leaves the question of the body's identity dependent upon a few strands of hair found in curlers near the body, another lock of hair found knotted in a man's handkerchief, and the remnant of a woman's undergarment.

The evidence of the hair, however, was rendered practically valueless by Pepper's admission that the hair found in the curlers was dark, while that in the handkerchief was light and much shorter than that in the curlers.

Until today's suspension of the hearing in the law street police court, Pepper had stoutly maintained that the identity of the remains as those of a woman was established by a woman's undergarment found in his direct examination by Travers, the government analyst, he maintained that the remains were those of a woman and even went so far as to give it as his opinion that the victim was of middle age and robust build.

This admission today, coupled with a similar admission by Dr. Marshall, makes the whole question of the sex of the body hinge upon extraneous (Continued on page 9, 2nd col.)

Columbus, Sept. 14.—One of the prisoners in the Ohio State Penitentiary was robbed of his money and valuables today. The robbery occurred in the prison kitchen.

YOUNG GIRL

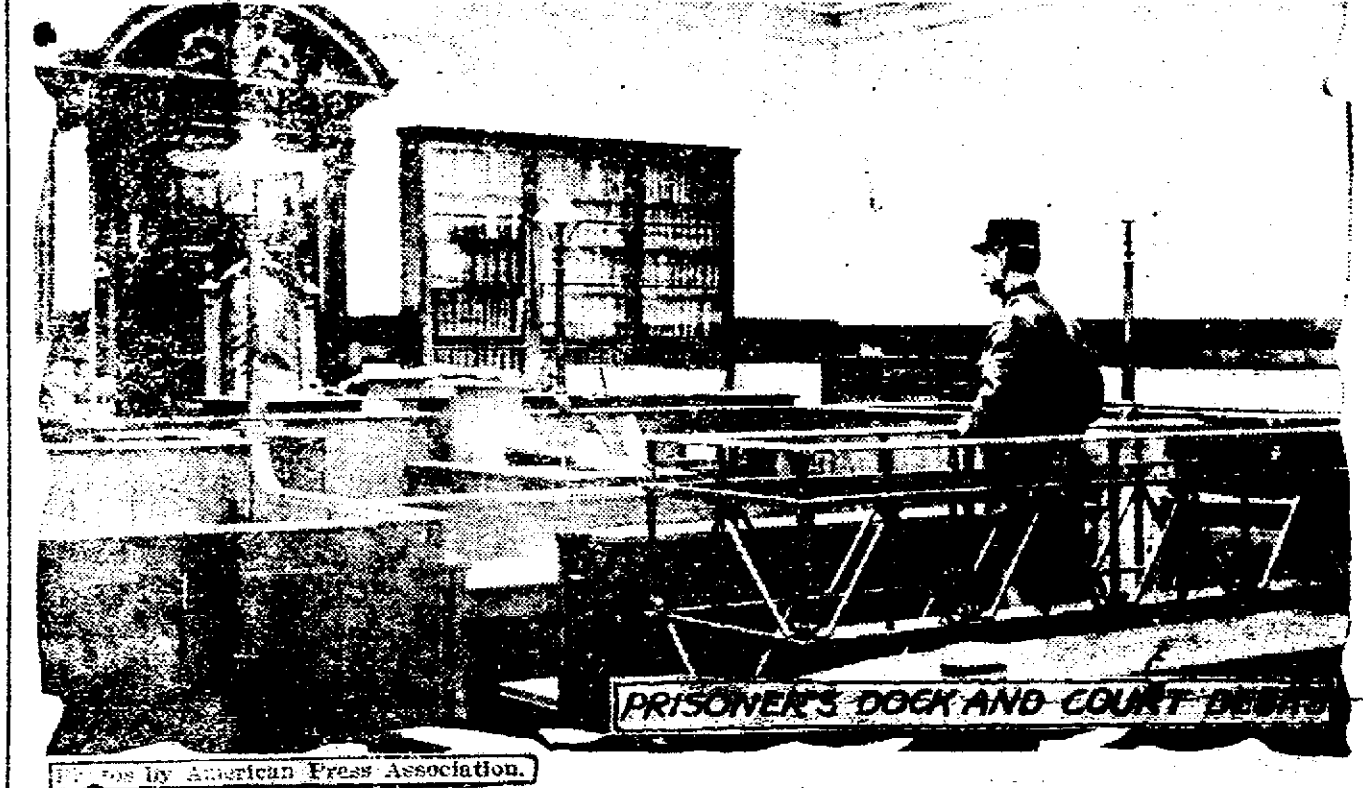

Or Thirteen Who Had Eloped with a Married Man Suicided to Avoid Being Captured.

Alexandria, Va., Sept. 14.—Apparently indifferent to the fact that a married man with a family, stood beside the dead body of Ethel Elmore, 13, of Chester, Pa., who last night committed suicide to avoid capture after eloping with him. He says they came here yesterday from Chester, and when police officers forced the door to their hotel room the girl shot herself dead. He says they intended to go to Florida, Mexico, California and finally China.

INSURGENT LANDSLIDE REPORTED

Blow to President Taft and the National Administration

LEGISLATURE CAPTURED

By Stand-pat Opponents and Prediction Made That Other States Will Fall in Line.

Seattle, Sept. 14.—Another insurgent landslide.

This was the verdict of the Republicans of the state of Washington in the contest between Miles Pindexter and the stand-patters for the U. S. senatorship fought out at the statewide primaries yesterday.

Comprehensive returns from all over the state early today indicate that Pindexter's plurality over Thomas Burke and J. Ashton, his stand-pat opponents, will exceed 25,000—a much larger plurality than even his most enthusiastic admirers had expected.

The result is conceded by stand-pat Republicans to be a blow to the influence of President Taft and the national administration in the northwest. The issue between Pindexter and the administration was clearly drawn when President Taft 10 days ago requested former Senator John Wilson of Seattle to withdraw from the race in order to concentrate the stand-pat strength and defeat Pindexter. Wilson declared he retired at the direct request of a plurality of not less than 600 and the indication today are that the insurgents have also carried every other county in the state. The insurgents also carried every congressional district in the state and the legislature. In the Tacoma district Congressman McCredie has been defeated by Warburton, radical insurgent, Congressman Humphreys, of the Seattle district, who championed the ship subsidy bill, has been defeated by Thomas P. Revelle, insurgent.

An insurgent Republican has also been nominated in the Spokane district to succeed Pindexter in the lower house.

Pindexter's friends are jubilant, and predict that the Washington result will go far toward swinging other Pacific coast and Northwest states into the insurgent column.

Pindexter was regarded as the most radical of the insurgents in congress and the stand-patters concentrated their efforts to defeat him. Pindexter called into the fight Victor Murdock of Kansas and other insurgents.

GEORGE PROVED HE WAS GAME

Petersburg, Ind. Sept. 14.—Because one of his children said he was not game to do it, George Gordon blew out his brains, following a family quarrel today.

LUCKY FINDER FACES TROUBLE

Bellair, Sept. 14.—W. J. McClain, contractor, who recently found a pot of gold in an excavation on he was making, was today arrested on a warrant from Ohio county, W. Va., charging him with the embezzlement of $24,124. This is the exact amount he found in the excavation.

THE WAY THE WIND BLOWS

As straws show the direction of the wind, glance over the following paragraphs and note the trend of political events:

Fred W. Plaisted, Democrat, defeats B. M. Fernald for governor of the Pine Tree state and substantial majorities in both Houses of the Maine legislature make sure the election of a Democratic United States Senator from Maine to succeed Mr. Hale.
Congressman Charles N. Fowler, insurgent, probably won endorsement in the race for the Senatorial toga now held by John Kean in New Jersey.
Returns in Washington indicate victory for Miles Poindexter, insurgent Republican for the United States Senate and a direct slap at the administration including one Secretary Ballinger.
George Gould, Republican, upon return from Europe, declared the high cost of living following the enactment of the new tariff law caused the loss of Maine and will put the Democrats in control of Congress.

"The sweeping victory in Maine has delightfully inspired the Ohio Democrats. The completeness of it is surprising"—Ohio Democratic Chairman Hugo Nichols.
"I predict that the next National House will be safely Democratic and that the Hon. Champ Clark will be Speaker Cannon's successor."—From an interview Wednesday with Congressman Wm. A. Ashbrook.
Ex-President Roosevelt and Vice President Sherman are running a neck and neck race for the chairmanship of the New York Republican State convention. This is the vice presidency for once in the limelight and the breach in New York Republicanism widens.

The political upheaval in Maine foreshadowing as it does events to come, gives courage to those who are fighting the people's battle. Results in the Fine Tree state are attributed to the high cost of living in consequence of the Aldrich tariff bill. The news of the day shows that in the East as well as in the West the insurgents are crowding the stand-patters off the stage; that the people are aroused as they never were and that the movement that has started on the Atlantic coast will sweep westward and in November place the Congress of the United States in Democratic hands.

Due consideration for the political situation might well induce the good President to withdraw his contribution to the Republican Campaign Text Book suggesting revision of the tariff one schedule at a time. Up to date, none of the reactionary candidates for Congress whom the Republican Campaign Committee is striving to elect has dared to utter a word in favor of his plan. Such is the thralldom in which they are held by the Trusts! Surely the President of the United States should not be a victim of self-deception or a party to what must lead to the deception of others by his Tariff Commission farce.

NEW SIDEWALKS

The people are talking about the suggestion to improve Newark's sidewalks and they are endorsing what has been published in other words, they are hoping that the contemplated improvement will be made but hoping and talking will not produce results. Two leading business men have agreed to join the Advocate, thus making three of five to furnish the required money. Who will be the other two? It isn't a donation that is asked but simply a loan. The improvement will be taxed against the property that is benefited. Such an improvement will benefit not only the property but the city as a whole and also every business interest in the city. Why not act now and get the walks in good condition before the winter weather arrives?

CLASSIFIED ADS.

The classified ad is growing in popularity as it combines economy with effectiveness—a hard combination to beat. The readers and users of the Advocate classified columns are increasing daily. There must be a reason and the reason is that both buyers and sellers find it profitable to use the little ad. The Advocate has inaugurated another popular department, "Everybody's Column," where as the name indicates, many different things will be found advertised. By classification and alphabetical arrangement the reader can easily and quickly find what he wants. If you doubt that these little advertisements are read, if you doubt that they bring results, try yourself. First have something somebody wants, put the right price on it and tell your offer in a straightforward manner. Prices talk but they don't always tell the whole story. Read the classified ads and don't overlook "Everybody's Column."

Sereno E. Payne is to be attacked in his own barnyard. The honor of being the titular leader of the House is not enough in these days of successful insurgency to save him from the undignified necessity of fighting for the Republican nomination for another term. An avowed insurgent, an opponent of the Payne-Aldrich tariff, has taken the field and will do his utmost to secure the nomination for Congress in the Auburn district. The Old Guard is experiencing the struggle for existence.

The Hand-writing in Maine.

(Columbus Dispatch)
For the first time in thirty years, Maine has elected a Democratic governor by a substantial plurality. That would have been enough to surprise the country. But there is more; two Democrats have been elected to congress and the Republicans who won in the other districts count their slender victory by hundreds instead of thousands, while at this writing the probability is that a Democratic legislature has been chosen that will send a Democrat to Washington to succeed Eugene Hale in the senate.

The result is a revolution, marking the deep-seated resentment of the people at the ill-concealed alliance of the administration, through Hale, Aldrich, Cannon, Wickersham, Ballinger and the rest, with the entrenched interests that have been robbing the people. A tariff revision pledge was made at Chicago and not kept at Washington. That was bad, but it was even worse to try to convince the people that they had received what was their due. In the matter of conservation of the natural resources, the despoilers have been favored and the champions of the people's interests ousted. And so on through the list, progress toward equal justice for all has been blocked, the entrenched interests winning in almost every struggle.

The resentment of the people has been written in the election in New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas, and California, and in congressional districts in Massachusetts and New York. Maine now writes deeper the lines of wrath, and there is more to come. It was Mr. Lincoln who said, "You can fool all of the people a part of the time, or a part of the people all of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

MR. ASHBROOK ON RESULTS IN MAINE ELECTION

Predicts Hon. Champ Clark Will Be Speaker of Next House of Representatives.

Congressman William A. Ashbrook was in town Tuesday on his way to Strasburg, Piscataway county, where he will deliver an address at the unveiling of a soldier's monument Thursday. From Strasburg he will go to Woodstock to attend the Wayne county fair.
As he was about to board the train here Mr. Ashbrook was asked by the Advocate if he had looked over the election returns from Maine. Putting on a smile that couldn't be rubbed off, Mr. Ashbrook replied:
"The Maine election results are certainly quite satisfactory, pleasing not only to the Democrats but to the people as a whole. The voters in Maine have expressed their opinion of the Payne-Aldrich-Cannon tariff law and have done it in a decisive way. The sweeping victory in Maine is further evidence that the insurgents are crowding the old time standard Republicans off the stage. The Bonaparte victory in Washington is another straw which shows the way the political wind is blowing and the administration can gather very little comfort from it. Look at the situation in Michigan, and Kansas, and Iowa, and elsewhere. I predict that the next National House of Representatives will be safely Democratic and that the Hon. Champ Clark will be Speaker Cannon's successor."
"Never in my life have I seen conditions so favorable to Democratic success, not only in Ohio but in the country at large. What has already taken place in widely separated sections of the country shows the sentiment of the people. Every Democrat, every opponent of trust rule, every man who condemns the Taft tariff has reason to rejoice and feel glad for a victory awaits us in November. It's in the air."

REGULAR MEETING OF DEMOCRATIC CLUB
The regular meeting of the Licking County Democratic Club will be held Friday evening, September 15, at 7:30 o'clock. This meeting will be an open one, and all Democrats, whether members or not are invited and urged to attend.

DICK THE DYNAMO OF G.O.P. CAMPAIGN

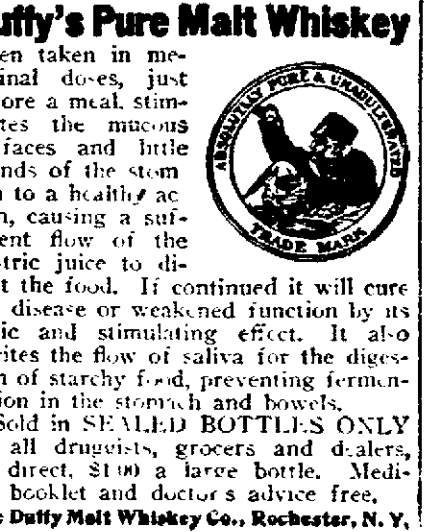

Senator Dick seems to have a good deal to say about the kind of campaign he and Harding and the Taft junta intend to conduct this fall.
According to Dick, the fight will be made upon national issues and a call to stand by the administration of President Taft. Little is to be said about state issues, because it is recognized that the administration of Governor Harmon presents no point which can be successfully attacked, although a determined effort will be made to misrepresent the governor in every way possible.

Harding is to set the pace for the campaign speakers, Laylin is to sit on the lid at campaign headquarters and keep the hot-heads cool by his icy presence, and Dick is to pull the wires from Washington through clandestine headquarters at Akron, with a view to capturing a majority of the legislature if possible to ratify the endorsement given him at the primaries last May as a Republican candidate for senator.
Solution Is Easy.
Harding makes the issue that the voters must vote for him to "stand by Taft." Voting for Harding is also voting to stand by Cox, who stood by Harding who stands by Cox. Then here comes Roosevelt, who has his friends in Ohio, and who will want to stand by him. The solution is simple and American: vote to stand by Ohio. Vote for Governor Harmon and settle the presidential matter in a presidential year.—Postoria Times

CHARLES NAGEL MAY GO TO SUPREME COURT BENCH

Washington, Sept. 14.—The name of Secretary of Commerce and Labor Charles Nagel is the latest to be mentioned for a place on the Supreme Court bench. Since the death of Senator Charles Lloyd Howells, the gossip has been rife that Nagel is the favorite of President Taft. The question of Mr. Nagel's name has been discussed from the

CHARLES NAGEL OF BROWN BROS.

Big circuit, which, although it embraces 13 states west of the Mississippi has been without a representative on the Supreme bench since the death of Justice Brewer, who was from Kansas. Secretary Nagel was born in Texas in 1879, but has lived in Missouri nearly all his life. Mr. Nagel's selection would be to fill the prospective vacancy to be created by the resignation of Justice Moody, who is understood to have decided to accept the provisions of the recent congressional enactment allowing him to retire on a pension on account of his health. "It would still leave vacant the seat of Justice Pitney, for which place it is said the president has in mind Governor Hughes of New York, who has already been confirmed as an associate justice to succeed Justice Brewer."

A SINGULAR CASE

Where Circumstantial Evidence Played Justice False.

HANGED AN INNOCENT MAN.

Every incident in the remarkable sequence of events seemed to point conclusively to the guilt of Harry Blake, who was accused of murder.

It began in the Blue Horse tavern, on the highway leading to Albany. Toward the close of an autumn day a half dozen men sat in the old bar-room discussing events which then were leading to the outbreak of the American Revolution. At such a time arguments were very likely to be rather more vigorous than ordinarily would be the case. And this was no exception. Fearing that trouble might result, one of the men exclaimed: "Come, Wickliffe, stop this. Such a dispute is nonsense."

Wickliffe was an ugly looking fellow, short and stout, with a dark, sallow face, black eyes, low, wrinkled forehead and lips that bared his teeth on occasions like a dog preparing to bite. "My quarrel is with Harry Blake," he snarled. "It is none of your affair." "Well, Wickliffe," Blake cried good naturedly, "if you will quarrel, I won't. I'll say no more."

Evidently Wickliffe was bent on trouble, for he muttered something which brought a cry of "Shame!" from every one in the room. Blake's face became deadly pale. "Wickliffe," he said steadily, "I didn't hear what you said, but I dare you to repeat it. If you do and there's one improper word in it, this hour will be the bitterest of your life."

Once more the offensive words were dung at him, and in an instant Blake had seized Wickliffe and thrown him across the room. For a moment he lay stunned, but presently, his face dark with hatred, he rose and, shaking his fist at Blake, exclaimed: "You may take your measure for a coffin. You will need one."

"Not before you," was Blake's reply. Shortly after the quarrel Wickliffe left the Blue Horse for his home. Blake, whose road lay in the same direction, followed soon. Ten minutes later two more of the loiterers, also going over the highway taken by Wickliffe and Blake, started on their homeward way.

The last two travelers had ridden several miles, talking earnestly of the stirring events which then engaged men's minds, when a loud cry was heard at a little distance. In a moment it was repeated, "Mercy," the voice pleaded, and then, "Oh, Harry!"

"Can Blake be settling scores with Wickliffe?" exclaimed Grayson, one of the two riders. In a moment they had galloped around a copse of trees at a bend in the road. Within twenty yards of them, on his back in the dust, lay Wickliffe dead. Bending over him stood Blake, grasping a knife driven to the hilt in his bosom.

"Taken red handed," Grayson cried, while Walton, his companion, himself a magistrate, sprang from his horse, exclaiming, "Blake, I charge you with murder."

"Why, I didn't kill him," Blake said earnestly. "You are mad. I found Wickliffe lying dead and was about to pull this knife from the wound when you came up."

Grayson shook his head. "I wish I could believe you, Harry," he said, "but as I hope to be saved I saw you stab him. I did."

It would be hard to imagine a situation more likely to convince a jury of the prisoner's guilt. Conan Doyle in his wisest fancies in deduction never presented more damning evidence to Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson—the epithet resented, the fight, the counter-attack of death, the departure of both while their temper yet was warm and then the terrible tableau on the highway.

What might a man expect even now with the thousand loopholes that the law provides for escape? There could be only one conclusion now, as then, and that conclusion the jury reached without leaving the courtroom. Blake's protestations were vain. He died on the scaffold declaring his innocence.

TREAT THE SEED WHEAT FOR SMUT

To treat seed wheat for stinking smut of kernels before sowing, the grain seems very necessary in 1919. Reports received at the Ohio Experiment Station indicate that the smut is present in nearly every county of Ohio in this year's wheat crop.
This smut is caused by the spores of the stinking smut fungus which adhere to otherwise healthy seed-grain. These smut spores may come from smutted kernels broken open or from bags or mills. There seem to be differences in the tendency or susceptibility of different varieties to smut, but the real problem is to sow disinfected seed, or seed free from smut. It is not likely that seed wheat free from smut can be easily purchased in Ohio at this time.

To treat seed wheat, the method of sprinkling it with a solution of formaldehyde (formalin) in water (1 pint or pound of formaldehyde to 40 gallons of water) is recommended and is successful. The formaldehyde is on sale at drug stores.
Sprinkle piles of grain on tight floors or canvas with this solution by means of sprinkler, meanwhile shoveling the grain over so that every kernel is moistened—it will require three-fourths gallon to one gallon of solution per bushel of the grain. When grain is so treated allow it to lie in pile 2 or 3 hours or over night; then spread to dry. After treating, handle the grain in disinfected bags, mills and drills.

To disinfect fanning mills or drills wash or sprinkle all parts well with the same or stronger formaldehyde solution. To disinfect bags for handling treated seed grain, soak them over night in same solution used to treat seed wheat.
For treating seed wheat in large quantities in tight elevators, etc., it is possible to use a gaseous formaldehyde which is described in the Spray Calendar, Bulletin No. 199. The sprinkling method above given is also described in the same Bulletin which will be sent you upon application to Botanist, Experiment Station, Wooster, O.

DENISON STUDENTS ARRIVING

Granville, Sept. 11.—The registration books for the fall term of Denison University were opened Wednesday morning, and never before in the history of the university has there been such a scramble by the students to get their names or the books as there has been this year. Ever since Monday the students from all parts of the country have been arriving in large numbers. Every incoming car is crowded with them and those that have already arrived are at the stations to meet new comers. It looks today as though the attendance at the college was going to be much greater than was at first supposed, both in Denison University and Shepley College. The number of new girls that have arrived indicates that the attendance at Shepley will also be much larger than it has been for some time. During the past several years the fame of Denison and Shepley has spread until now these great institutions of learning have become recognized as among the leading educational schools of the country, and that this reputation is bearing fruit is evidenced by the large number of young people who are enrolling their names on their books.

WEEK DISCUS THE PROPOSED NEW FACTORY

J. E. Inman, the Californian, who is promoting the new West Newark industry, The Ohio Glass and Pottery company, has interested a number of Newark business men in the proposed new factory and these met with Mr. Inman Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the mayor's office in the city building, when the proposition will be gone over thoroughly.

Mr. Inman has requested the business men interested to bring with them an experienced electrical and experienced glass men to examine the patents and pass upon the practicability of them. Mr. Inman will personally explain the advantages of his new insulators.

When the factory is under full operation it will employ five hundred men, mostly expert mechanics. Mr. Inman states that his invention has already aroused widespread interest among electrical workers over the country and he already has advanced orders sufficient to warrant the proposed investment, with more coming in daily.

He stated to the Advocate that all the machinery would be new and specially constructed for his own products.

BROUGHT HOME FROM KENTUCKY

Malcolm Livingston, who has his back broken some time ago by a fall from the Illinois Central railroad bridge over the Cumberland river, near Paducah, Kentucky, was returned to Newark Tuesday night and the ambulance of Criss Bros. & Jones took him to his home, 415 Baltimore street.

Mr. Livingston was working for the railroad and in crossing the bridge fell and broke his back. His death was hourly expected, but he gradually regained strength until able to be returned to his home.

RALLY OF YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETIES

The fall and winter work is about to commence in the various churches of the city and in order to do the work acceptably it has been thought best to make the meeting this time in the nature of a rally, and also to make it as practical as possible.

The leader is to be the president of the city union, and every one who knows him knows that the meeting will abound in enthusiasm and interest. Just now that is what we want, for some way we kind of neglect our young people's societies, and interest wanes during the summer months.

The rally will be held this coming Sunday at 5 o'clock, in the auditorium of the beautiful new First Presbyterian church and every person interested in young people's work is most cordially invited.

ROCKEFELLERS ARE SEARCHING FOR FATHER OF JOHN D. AND WILLIAM

Investigation is also being pursued by a man employed by John D. and his brother, William Rockefeller, to write a history of the Rockefeller family. This man is Aaron R. Lewis, a handwriting expert of New York. Mr. Lewis, according to Dr. Rockefeller, plans to get his book into shape up to the point concerning John D. Rockefeller, when he will put the matter squarely before him, William Rockefeller and Mrs. Rudd. At the election of officers Benjamin F. Rockefeller, of Canton City, Ohio, was made president, Mary Rockefeller of Montgomery, Ala., president, Henry C. Rockefeller of Brooklyn second vice president, Dr. Henry O. Rockefeller of Brooklyn secretary, W. Gardner Rockefeller, of New York, secretary, H. S. Rockefeller of New York, Dr. Rockefeller of New York, Miss Grace Rockefeller of New York and Mrs. John P. Rockefeller of New York. The next reunion will be held in Longlake, Wis.

COUNTY CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR UNION

At a meeting of the county officers and superintendents held last evening at the First Presbyterian church, the Gates for the next County Christian Endeavor convention was definitely set for October 21 and 22. The program was partially arranged, and was left in the hands of a committee for further preparation. The place was not definitely decided upon as yet, but will be in ample time for thorough advertising.

It is the earnest desire of those in charge to make these meetings different from anything we have ever had, and the co-operation of the Endeavorers is most heartily solicited. Remember the dates.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Poor Little Squirrel

"PERHAPS," said daddy to Jack and Evelyn, "you would like to hear about a poor little squirrel which lived in one of the southern states."

"Why was he a poor little squirrel, daddy?" asked Evelyn.

"Wait until you hear the story, child," said daddy. "One day there were two children, a little boy and a little girl, brother and sister, playing about the garden of their home when an old colored man who lived near them came into the garden with something little and soft and gray in his hands. The two children knew the colored man and were fond of him. They called him 'Uncle Ben'."

"What have you there, Uncle Ben?" asked the little girl.

"Hit's a little teeny baby squ'!" said Uncle Ben. "Hit's only about two days old. I thought you children would like to have hit to play with."

"Indeed we would, Uncle Ben," said the little girl; "but how did you come to take such a tiny baby squirrel away from its mamma?"

"'Deed I didn't take it from its ma," said Uncle Ben. "I foun' de ol' snake with it an' jest 'bout ready to eat him up, so I took him away fum de ole snake an' fotch him beah'."

"Well, the children were very glad to have the little animal, and they thanked Uncle Ben. Their mamma also thanked him and gave him a good breakfast and some money. The children became very fond of the squirrel. At first they fed him on milk. It was very funny to see them fill a little sponge with milk and give it to the little squirrel to suck. They called him Bunney."

"It was spring when Bunney came to live with the children, and they kept him until fall. One day the little boy was at school, and the little girl was at home, for she had not been feeling well. All at once her mamma heard her give a loud cry, and she ran out to see what was the matter. She found the little girl crying bitterly: 'Oh, mamma! Oh, mamma! Poor Bunney!'

"Why, what is the matter with Bunney?" asked her mamma.

"He's dead! He's dead!" said the little girl. "A horrid big snake has caught him and swallowed him!"

"Just then Uncle Ben came running up. When he heard the story he had the little girl point out to him where the snake was lying. Then he took out his big jackknife and cut off the snake's head. The next thing he did was to cut open the snake. He found the poor Bunney not quite dead, but nearly so. It took a long time of nursing before Bunney was well again, but he recovered finally. 'Hit pears like dat squ' won't bahn to be killed by a snake,' said Uncle Ben."

Had Runaway.
A bad runaway occurred on South Second street at an early hour on Wednesday morning. Henry Wilson, a farmer living several miles east of the city, was delivering some fruit to a customer, when the horses frightened and ran away. They headed north and ran as far as Railroad St., where they collided with a tree, wrecking the wagon and slightly injuring one of the horses. The team was caught before any further damage was done.

Cotton Display.
A unique display of cotton and manufactured cotton goods on display in the large show window of Gleichen's furniture store, on West Main street, is attracting a great deal of attention. The display consists of a number of fine cotton mattresses, together with an exhibit of cotton in its raw state and a considerable quantity of cotton seed, for ginning. To those who have never seen cotton growing the display is very interesting, there being quite a number of plants filled with cotton bolls, together with cotton that has been picked.

Request Pastor's Return.
At a meeting of the West Main street M. E. church held on Monday evening, it was unanimously decided to request the return of the pastor.

OBITUARY

JAMES M. GUTHRIE.
James M. Guthrie, a well known resident of Licking county, died at his home about six miles south of Newark, Wednesday morning at 7:30 o'clock, aged 58 years. The deceased is survived by two sons and three daughters, William Irvel Guthrie and Benjamin Guthrie, and Mrs. Della Hoskins, all of whom lived at home, and Mrs. Gertrude Eagle of Bowling Green township. He is also survived by three brothers, William Guthrie of Newark, George Guthrie of Hopewell township and John Guthrie of Bowling Green township, and one sister, Mrs. Samuel Hupp. The funeral services will be held at the Fairmount church Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, and the interment will be made in Fairmount cemetery.

MRS. WM. G. WALLACE.
Word has been received in this city of the sudden death of Mrs. Wallace, wife of Dr. Wm. G. Wallace of Los Angeles, Calif., who formerly lived here. Mrs. Wallace made many friends during her visit here some years ago.

MRS. MARGARET SMART.
Word was received here Wednesday that Mrs. Margaret Smart, widow of the late Wm. Smart, formerly a resident of Granville, had died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ella Dunn, in Columbus, on Tuesday night about 11 o'clock, after an illness of some time, aged about 70 years. Seven children survive. The body will be taken to Granville and the funeral services will be held at that place on Friday morning at 11 o'clock, the interment being made in the cemetery there.

FUNERAL OF MISS COVARD.
The funeral of Miss Emma Covard, 45, who choked herself to death with a strap Monday morning, was held on Tuesday afternoon and the burial was made in the Alexandria cemetery. Miss Covard had been suffering from a blood clot on the brain, and although entirely cheerful Sunday night when she left her parents and retired, she was found dead the next morning.

In committing suicide the despondent woman had attached one end of the strap about the bed post and the other end she fixed securely about her throat. She died from strangulation.

FUNERAL OF MRS. GOLDBERRY.
The funeral of Mrs. Roy Goldberry will be held Thursday at 11 o'clock from the church in Hebron and burial will be made in the Hebron cemetery. The body will be taken from the home, 215 Thirteenth street at 8:30, and services will be conducted at the church.

OLD SORES DUE TO DISEASED BLOOD

Every symptom of an old sore suggests diseased blood. The inflammation, discharge, discolored flesh, and the fact that local applications have no permanent effect toward healing the ulcer, shows that deep down in the system there is a morbid cause for the sore. But more convincing proof that bad blood is the cause for these places is furnished by the fact that even removing the sore or ulcer by surgical operation does not cure; they always return. Nature will heal any sore if the blood is pure and healthy, but until the circulation is cleansed of all impure matter and supplied with nourishing and plastic qualities the infected condition of flesh is OBLIGED to remain. S.S.S. heals Old Sores in a perfectly natural way. It goes into the blood, removes the impurities and morbid matters, adds nourishing qualities to this vital fluid, and brings about the very conditions that are necessary before any sore can heal. S.S.S. is a perfect blood purifier, acting directly on the circulation through the stomach and digestive members. Its use makes rich, red, healthy blood, which nourishes all flesh tissues instead of infecting them with the virulent matter which keeps old sores open. Special book on Old Sores and all medical advice free.

IE HOUSE N THE HILL

By M. QUAD

St. 122, by Associated Literary Press.

Joe and the hill were situated in the state of Ohio. The hill was yet, but there is no house. Twenty years ago a stranger came to the town and bought the hill. When he was about completed he was a decaying wreck when he was a Mr. Bushwick from so where and bought the property. As soon as he had the property he offered it to any villager for was laughed at as weak in the town.

To effect a sale, Mr. Bushwick house put in repair and announced that he should use an observatory. Of course the town knew what an observatory was. Mr. Bushwick's telescope arrived and were set up on the hill. He permitted the villagers to look—not at the heavens, but at the hill. They could almost see the hill in the town beneath the hill.

"men," said Mr. Bushwick. "The price of this hill is $100. It will increase $100 until sold."

FALLACY OF "YOUR MONEY BACK IF NOT AS REPRESENTED"

BY O. A. CHARLES.

[Copyright by O. A. Charles, 1918.]

The one sentence, that has fooled more people into sending their money away from home to buy from Mail Order Houses than any other of an equal number of words written in this badly misused, very much overworked sentence, "Your Money Back If Goods Are Not As Represented."

Let us analyze this statement—let us see what it really means, as used by the Mail Order Houses. "Your Money Back If Goods Are Not As Represented." In the first place they say "Your Money Back;" they do not say when you will get your money back. It may be in a month or six months—it usually is six months.

Let me cite a case showing how the mail order concerns handle the "Money Back" promise. A man living in a city in Ohio was building a house, and the contractor coaxed him to send to a mail order house for the builders' hardware. After considerable persuasion on the part of the contractor he consented and together they made up the order, which amounted to $58.00. Of course the money was sent with the order. The goods were six weeks in coming, and when at last they did come and were opened up and examined, it certainly was a very inferior grade of builders' hardware. The door locks, knobs and hinges looked like common cast iron without any finish.

The man who bought them was very much disappointed and at once wrote to the house, saying the hardware was not as represented and not at all satisfactory. The mail order house did not say "return the goods and we will refund your money." Oh, no! They wanted to argue the matter—wanted to exchange the goods for others. This was argued by correspondence for several weeks, when finally, getting tired of the controversy, the buyer sent the goods back and demanded his money, plus the freight he had paid.

Now here is the point I wish to emphasize: It took three months, a great deal of correspondence and finally a threat to put the matter in the hands of an attorney for collection, to force the mail order house to refund the money.

Here is the sequel to this same case: When the builder saw that the mail order house hardware would not do, he went to the best hardware store in his home town and bought the best grade of builders' hardware they had and then his bill was just $3.45 more than the mail order house price for the junk they had sent him.

The above is a true recital of what actually happened, for the writer is a "next door" neighbor to the builder and examined the hardware and saw all the correspondence.

Now here is another view of "Your Money Back If Goods Are Not As Represented:"

In reading over the descriptions of goods in mail order house catalogues did you ever notice how carefully the descriptions are worded? Haven't you noticed that they are hedged in by shrewdly concealed conditions?

In describing a piece of furniture, for example. Do the catalogues tell you that the parts are pegged or glued together instead of mortised? Mail order house furniture is either made in their own factories or in factories the output of which is controlled by mail order houses, and invariably you find these goods made with chestnut substituted for oak, pegged or glued together.

The description in the catalogue did not say "made of solid oak with parts mortised together." The goods you received would be "as represented," yet you know a dresser made of chestnut, glued together, is not a first-class piece of furniture, yet it is as represented in the catalogue.

Still another view of "Your Money Back If Goods Are Not As Represented:"

You usually do not buy an article of merchandise until you need it. Then if you send to a mail order house for it and even if it isn't "as represented," aren't you going to keep it and say to yourself, "I guess it will do," rather than send it back and wait till you settle with the mail order house so you can buy another?

Yes, you could buy another from your home merchant as soon as you found the mail order article was unsatisfactory. But the mail order house has your money and, unless you have more cash than the majority of us have, you do not care to make a further investment for one article till you get your money back—that may not be for six months.

One mail order house claims they have sold goods to more than one-half the families in the United States. Doesn't that prove that thousands of people send them trial orders "just to see if it is really profitable," and then never buy again? Doesn't that prove that a person will make the best of a bad bargain rather than try to get "satisfaction" from some concern a thousand miles away? Especially as that concern has his money? Verily, verily, "Your Money Back If Goods Are Not As Represented" is a snare and a delusion to fool you.

REUNION OF THE THIRTY-FIRST O. V. I.

There was a splendid attendance at the reunion of the old 31st O. V. I., held at Somerset Tuesday, some of the old boys coming from points hundreds of miles distant, and in one instance one of the veterans traveled over 1000 miles to attend the reunion. Ten members of Co. H, recruited in Newark, were present at the reunion. Only two cities contested for the next reunion, Newark and Columbus. When the ballots were counted, however, it was found that all were in favor of Newark. The next reunion, therefore, will be held in Newark some time next September.

AMUSEMENTS

THE ORPHEUM.

Well! Well! Some class to that show at the Orpheum. Certainly must be something, as last evening standing room was at a premium. The show starts off with De Rosa's Trained Cats and Dogs, an act especially booked for the little people, but when pleasures little and big alike. The cats do all kind of acrobatic stunts, jump hurdles, ride Ferris wheels, and do everything that is sure to please lovers of animal acts. The dogs are clever and the boxing of the two cats a la John-John-John, is one big scream. The monkey, "Mr. Dooley," in his drunken scene is one of the hits. Frank Walsh, the eccentric comedian is becoming more popular every day. One of the neatest sketches is that of Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Friel with "At Economy Junction." The act has been the recipient of numerous curtain calls at every performance. Mile. Sidonie is the talk of the town with her clever dances and her singing recitatives much applause. The real big hit of the above clever program falls to the Howard Brothers. Their skill is marvelous and most of their work is legitimate music, but they do two tricks that have the merit of originality. In one they play a duet on one banjo, one man standing up and reaching over the other's shoulder to play. The other is done on small instruments and is a perfect imitation of a grand piano. Their juggling of the six banjos receives applause after applause. Two moving pictures that is shown this week is itself an attraction and is entitled "The 1st Band." The picture was taken on the ranch of Phil Bruce, in Oklahoma just before they started on this season's tour and is one of the best subjects of its kind ever produced. Owing to the length of the performance this week, the evening show will start at 7:30 instead of 7:45 as advertised.

KEITH VAUDEVILLE.

Tonight is the last opportunity the theater goers will have of witnessing the excellent Keith bill that is now offered at the Auditorium theater and it is well worth seeing, for Harry Rabin has one of the best single acts ever seen here. Of nice stage personality he has a voice that is attracting great notice. His tones range from those of the baritone singer to the clear notes of a soprano. He carries a special drop and the act is nicely presented.

Palmer and Lewis, the headliners for the first three days, have a travesty from the stage and with it two people act that contains more a laugh and balancing them for over a minute. Miss Ray Lewis is seen in her dancing. With Thursday's matinee the bill changes completely and the feature is a singing act will be Guy M. Duxley, the human and eccentric dancer that shows the best. He carries a tank containing ordinary and Kratt and Myrtle are 1000 gallons of water and the stage at seen in a sinking and dancing skit the Auditorium will be attracted to place that is a real winner. He gives fancy feats in diving and swimming. The Hermonous company of strong swimming, having held the world's people complete the bill. One of the championships as a swimmer from 1899 members of the company hits a piano to 1904.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Poor Little Squirrel

Then He Took Out His Big Jackknife

"PERHAPS," said daddy to Jack and Evelyn, "you would like to hear about a poor little squirrel which lived in one of the southern states."

"Why was he a poor little squirrel, daddy?" asked Evelyn.

"Wait until you hear the story, child," said daddy. "One day there were two children, a little boy and a little girl, brother and sister, playing about the garden of their home when an old colored man who lived near them came into the garden with something little and soft and gray in his hands. The two children knew the colored man and were fond of him. They called him 'Uncle Ben'."

"What have you there, Uncle Ben?" asked the little girl.

"It's a little teeny baby squ'ly," said Uncle Ben. "It's only about two days old. I thought you children would like to have him to play with."

"Indeed we would, Uncle Ben," said the little girl; "but how did you come to take such a tiny baby squirrel away from its mamma?"

"Deed I didn't take it from its ma," said Uncle Ben. "I foun' de ol' snake with it an' jest 'bout ready to eat him up, so I took him away fum de ole snake an' fotch him beah'."

"Well, the children were very glad to have the little animal, and they thanked Uncle Ben. Their mamma also thanked him and gave him a good breakfast and some money. The children became very fond of the squirrel. At first they fed him on milk. It was very funny to see them fill a little sponge with milk and give it to the little squirrel to suck. They called him Bunny."

"It was spring when Bunny came to live with the children, and they kept him until fall. One day the little boy was at school, and the little girl was at home, for she had not been feeling well. All at once her mamma heard her give a loud cry, and she ran out to see what was the matter. She found the little girl crying bitterly: 'Oh, mamma! Oh, mamma! Poor Bunny!'

"Why, what is the matter with Bunny?" asked her mamma.

"He's dead! He's dead!" said the little girl. "A horrid big snake has caught him and swal'owed him!"

"Just then Uncle Ben came running up. When he heard the story he had the little girl point out to him where the snake was lying. Then he took out his big jackknife and cut off the snake's head. The next thing he did was to cut open the snake. He found the poor Bunny not quite dead, but nearly so. It took a long time of nursing before Bunny was well again, but he recovered finally. 'Hit pears like dat squ'ly won't bahn to be killed by a snake,' said Uncle Ben."

OBITUARY

JAMES M. GUTHRIE.
James M. Guthrie, a well known resident of Licking county, died at his home about six miles south of Newark, Wednesday morning at 7:30 o'clock, aged 58 years. The deceased is survived by two sons and three daughters, William Irvel Guthrie and George Benjamin Guthrie, who lived at home, and Mrs. Gertrude Eagle of Bowling Green township. He is also survived by three brothers, William Guthrie of Newark, George Guthrie of Hopewell township and John Guthrie of Bowling Green township, and one sister, Mrs. Samuel Hupp. The funeral services will be held at the Fairmount church Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, and the interment will be made in Fairmount cemetery.

MRS. WM. G. WALLACE.
Word has been received in this city of the sudden death of Mrs. Wallace, wife of Dr. Wm. G. Wallace of Los Angeles, Calif., who formerly lived here. Mrs. Wallace made many friends during her visit here some years ago.

MRS. MARGARET SMART.
Word was received here Wednesday that Mrs. Margaret Smart, widow of the late Wm. Smart, formerly a resident of Gratiot, had died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ella Dunn in Columbus, on Tuesday night about 11 o'clock, after an illness of some time, aged about 70 years. Seven children survive. The body will be taken to Gratiot and the funeral services will be held at that place on Friday morning at 11 o'clock, the interment being made in the cemetery there.

FUNERAL OF MISS CONARD.
The funeral of Miss Emma Conard, 45, who choked herself to death with a strap Monday morning, was held on Tuesday afternoon and the burial was made in the Alexandria cemetery. Miss Conard had been suffering from a blood clot on the brain, and although entirely cheerful Sunday night when she left her parents and retired, she was found dead the next morning.

In committing suicide the despondent woman had attached one end of the strap about the head and the other end she fixed securely about her throat. She died from strangulation.

FUNERAL OF MRS. GOLDBERRY.
The funeral of Mrs. Roy Goldberry will be held Thursday at 11 o'clock from the church in Hebron and burial will be made in the Hebron cemetery. The body will be taken from the home, 255 Thirteenth street at 8:30, and services will be conducted at the church.

OLD SORES
DUE TO DISEASED BLOOD

Every symptom of an old sore suggests diseased blood. The inflammation, discharge, discolored flesh, and the fact that local applications have no permanent effect toward healing the ulcer, shows that deep down in the system there is a morbid cause for the sore. But more convincing proof that bad blood is the cause for these places is furnished by the fact that even removing the sore or ulcer by surgical operation does not cure; they always return. Nature will heal any sore if the blood is pure and healthy, but until the circulation is cleansed of all impure matter and supplied with nourishing and plasmic qualities the infected condition of flesh is OBLIGED to remain. S.S.S. heals Old Sores in a perfectly natural way. It goes into the blood, removes the impurities and morbid matters, adds nourishing qualities to this vital fluid, and brings about the very conditions that are necessary before any sore can heal. S.S.S. is a perfect blood purifier, acting directly on the circulation through the stomach and digestive membranes. Its use makes rich, red, healthy blood, which nourishes all flesh tissues instead of infecting them with the virulent matter which keeps old sores open. Special book on Old Sores and any medical advice free.

THE HOUSE ON THE HILL

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

The house and the hill were situated in a town in the state of Ohio. The hill is there yet, but there is no house on it. Twenty years ago a stranger went to the town and bought the hill and built a frame house on it. When the house was about completed he died. It was a decaying wreck when along came a Mr. Bushwick from no one knew where and bought the property for $100. As soon as he had the deed he offered it to any villager for $300 and was laughed at as weak in the top story.

Failing to effect a sale, Mr. Bushwick had the house put in repair and announced that he intended to live there. He also announced that he should use it as an observatory. Of course the villagers knew what an observatory was. When Mr. Bushwick's telescope and tripod arrived and were set up on the veranda he permitted the villagers to have a look—not at the heavens, but at the earth. They could almost see the houses in the town beneath their feet.

"Gentlemen," said Mr. Bushwick when all was ready, "the price of this property is $400. It will increase $100 per week until sold."

Of course he was loopy, but so long as he appeared harmless the people would only laugh at him. The first one to make a discovery was a Mr. Graham. He was an old man, and he had an old wife. They were always wrangling, more or less. When they had wrangled about so long each time he would box her ears. Two days after the "observatory" had been established and as the old couple sat on the piazza of their house a wrangle took place. After a bit the husband looked around, and, seeing no one passing, he administered a cuff. A moment later he happened to look up on the hill and saw that the telescope was trained upon him. If there was any doubt that Mr. Bushwick had seen that cuff inflicted it was dispelled by the waving of a small white flag.

Elder Thompson was a good man, a very good man, as all elders should be and are. He was sitting in his back yard under an apple tree, thinking how good and peaceful and nice it was to be real good, when a hum-blee came along and lifted him once for his mother's sake. After coming down from his high jump the elder broke down a young cherry tree, tore down a panel of the fence and ran his dog into the house. It was no more than a good man should do, but when he looked up and saw that accusing telescope and white flag he felt hurt and conscience stricken.

A dozen other things of the kind happened during the first week, and then the citizens decided that an observatory was unlawful. They consulted a lawyer, and he smiled at them. He told them the town could be surrounded by observatories and not conflict with any law. Then it was thought best to make up a shake purse and buy Mr. Bushwick out.

"Gentlemen," said the telescope man when they approached him on the subject, "the price of this property is $500. Take it or leave it."

"But you have no right to be spying on our homes," was retorted.

"There is no spying. I am simply surveying the earth before me. If any of you happen to come within my range of vision I cannot help it. I do not think I shall write a book on what I see. I may, but do not think so."

The citizens refused to pay the sum named and went down the hill to their homes, while Mr. Bushwick returned to his post and his telescope. One of the residents of the village was an old maid named Miss Sanderson. She had a home of her own. She was fond of strolling in her garden. A Mr. Biosom, who lived next door, was fond of leaning over the line fence and quoting poetry to her. His wife had warned him to stop it or she would quote something to him, but on a certain afternoon he forgot the warning and was repeating "Sheridan's Ride" to Miss Sanderson when there came a wife, a club and a cataclysm. The telescope took it all in. The white flag waved joyously. Dozens of people saw it wave and went hunting for the cause, and there was some more to talk about. Two or three days later a committee climbed the hill with $500 in its hind pocket and told Mr. Bushwick to take it and get out.

"Gentlemen, I am sorry if you have been put to any trouble," he kindly replied, "but the figure on the property is $600. You see, a sort of real estate boom has set in."

The committee hemmed and hawed and refused to pay. Two days after that the report spread that the observatory man was going to have a night as well as a day glass—a glass that would almost see through a pine door. Then there was a bustle. Three men took up the task of collecting. Oh, no; they were not afraid of the day glass, or the night glass or any other kind of glass, but it would be a great improvement to the landscape to remove the house on the hill and set out some pine trees there. When they went up to see Mr. Bushwick again he wanted $700, but, seeing it was they and seeing they wanted to better the landscape, he would throw off $50 and get out. In three days he was gone, and the sigh of relief that went up was heard all over Loraine county. Things do happen yet in that town, but the world never hears of them.

FALLACY OF "YOUR MONEY BACK IF NOT AS REPRESENTED"

BY O. A. CHARLES

(Copyright by O. A. Charles, 1910.)

The one sentence, that has fooled more people into sending their money away from home to buy from Mail Order Houses than any other of an equal number of words written in this badly misused, very much overworked sentence, "Your Money Back If Goods Are Not As Represented."

Let us analyze this statement—let us see what it really means, as used by the Mail Order Houses. "Your Money Back If Goods Are Not As Represented." In the first place they say "Your Money Back," they do not say when you will get your money back. It may be in a month or six months—it usually is six months.

Let me cite a case showing how the mail order concerns handle the "Money Back" promise. A man living in a city in Ohio was building a house, and the contractor coaxed him to send to a mail order house for the builders' hardware. After considerable persuasion on the part of the contractor he consented and together they made up the order, which amounted to $58.00. Of course the money was sent with the order. The goods were six weeks in coming, and when at last they did come and were opened up and examined, it certainly was a very inferior grade of builders' hardware. The door locks, knobs and hinges looked like common cast iron without any finish.

The man who bought them was very much disappointed and at once wrote to the house, saying the hardware was "not as represented and not at all satisfactory."

The mail order house did not say "return the goods and we will refund your money." Oh, no! They wanted to argue the matter—wanted to exchange the goods for others. This was argued by correspondence for several weeks, when finally, getting tired of the controversy, the buyer sent the goods back and demanded his money, plus the freight he had paid.

Now here is the point I wish to emphasize: It took three months, a great deal of correspondence and finally a threat to put the matter in the hands of an attorney for collection, to force the mail order house to refund the money.

Here is the sequel to this same case: When the builder saw that the mail order house hardware would not do, he went to the best hardware store in his home town and bought the best grade of builders' hardware they had and then his bill was just $3.45 more than the mail order house price for the junk they had sent him.

The above is a true recital of what actually happened, for the writer is a "next door" neighbor to the builder and examined the hardware and saw all the correspondence.

Now here is another view of "Your Money Back If Goods Are Not As Represented."

In reading over the descriptions of goods in mail order house catalogues did you ever notice how carefully the descriptions are worded? Haven't you noticed that they are hedged in by shrewdly concealed conditions?

In describing a piece of furniture, for example. Do the catalogues tell you that the parts are pegged or glued together instead of mortised? Mail order house furniture is either made in their own factories or in factories the output of which is controlled by mail order houses, and invariably you find these goods made with chestnut substituted for oak, pegged or glued together.

The description in the catalogue did not say "made of solid oak with parts mortised together." The goods you received would be "as represented," yet you know a dresser made of chestnut, glued together, is not a first-class piece of furniture, yet it is as represented in the catalogue.

Still another view of "Your Money Back If Goods Are Not As Represented."

You usually do not buy an article of merchandise until you need it. Then if you send to a mail order house for it and even if it isn't "as represented," aren't you going to keep it and say to yourself, "I guess it will do," rather than send it back and wait till you settle with the mail order house so you can buy another?

Yes, you could buy another from your home merchant as soon as you found the mail order article was unsatisfactory, but the mail order house has your money and, unless you have more cash than the majority of us have, you do not care to make a further investment for one article till you get your money back—that may not be for six months.

One mail order house claims they have sold goods to more than one-half the families in the United States. Doesn't that prove that thousands of people send their trial orders "just to see if it is really profitable?" and then never buy again? Doesn't it prove that a person will make the best of a bad bargain rather than try to get "satisfaction" from some concern a thousand miles away? Especially as that concern has his money?

Verily, verily, "Your Money Back If Goods Are Not As Represented" is a snare and a delusion to fool you.

REUNION OF THE THIRTY-FIRST O. V. I.

There was a splendid attendance at the reunion of the old 31st O. V. I., held at Somerset Tuesday, some of the old boys coming from points hundreds of miles distant, and in one instance one of the veterans traveled over 1000 miles to attend the reunion. Ten members of Co. H, recruited in Newark, were present at the reunion. Only two cities contested for the next reunion, Newark and Columbus. When the ballots were counted, however, it was found that all were in favor of Newark. The next reunion, therefore, will be held in Newark some time next September.

AMUSEMENTS

THE ORPHEUM.

Well! Well! Some class to that show at the Orpheum. Certainly must be something, as last evening standing room was at a premium. The show starts off with De Rosa's Trained Cats and Dogs, an act especially booked for the little people, but when pleases little and big alike. The cats do all kind of acrobatic stunts, jump hurdles, ride Ferris wheels, and do everything that is sure to please lovers of animal acts. The dogs are clever and the boxing of the two cats is a Johnson-Jeffries, is one big scream. The monkey, "Mr. Dooley," in his drunken scene is one of the hits. Frank Walsh, the eccentric comedian is becoming more popular every day. One of the newest sketches is that of Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Friel with "At Economy Junction." The act has been the recipient of numerous curtain calls at every performance. Miss Sidome is the talk of the town with her clever dances and her singing receives much applause. The real big hit of the above clever program falls to the Howard Brothers. Their skill is marvelous and most of their work is legitimate music, but they do two tricks that have the merit of originality. In one they play a duet on one banjo, one man standing up and reaching over the other's shoulder to play. The other is done on small instruments and is a perfect imitation of a graphophone. Their juggling of the six banjos receives applause after applause. The moving picture that is shown this week is itself an attraction and is entitled "The 101 Ranch." The picture was taken on the ranch of Miller Bros., an Oklahoma just before they started on this season's tour and is one of the best subjects of its kind ever produced. Owing to the length of the performance this week, the evening show will start at 7:30 instead of 8:30 as advertised.

KEITH VADEVILLE.

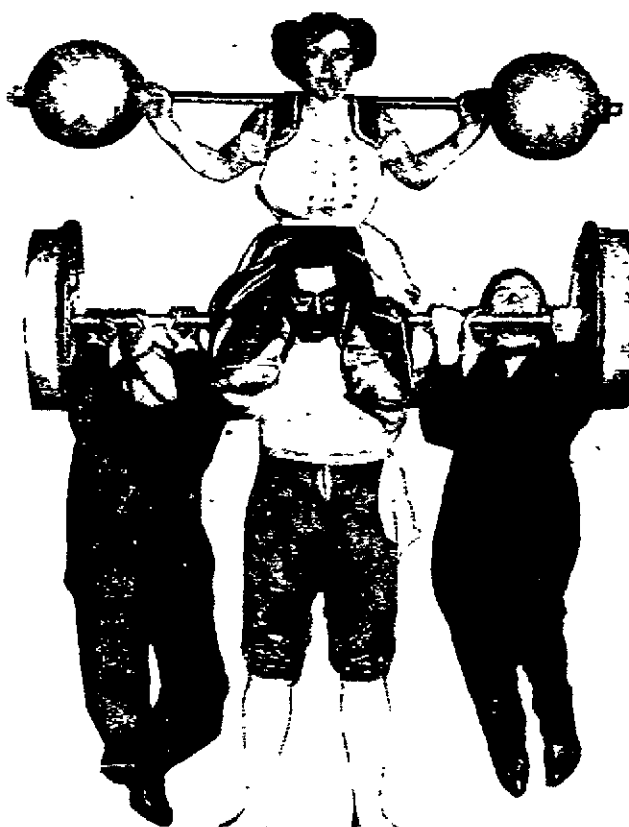

Tonight is the last opportunity the theater goers will have of witnessing the excellent Keith bill that is now offered at the Auditorium theater and it is well worth seeing, for Harry Barrum has one of the best single acts ever seen here. On our stage personality he has a voice that is attracting great notice. His tones range from those of the baritone singer to the clear notes of a soprano. He carries a special drop and the act is nicely presented.

Palmer and Lewis, the headliners for the first three days, leave a travesty from the stage and with it two people act that contains many changes, and

SECOND ANNUAL REPORT OF THE NEWARK LIBRARY

To the Trustees of the Newark Public Library, Mr. Chas. W. Montgomery, President:

The librarian has the honor of presenting to you the second annual report of the Newark Public Library, for the year ending Sept. 1, 1910.

The following statistics were made from the records of the library:

This means the circulation of 2000 books, as about 200 are reference books that cannot be taken from the library.

Volumes on shelves, Sept. 1, 1910, 10,000; total circulation for year ended, 20,000. (This means the circulation of 2000 books, as about 200 are reference books that cannot be taken from the library.)

Books checked out, 10,000; returned, 10,000. (This means the circulation of 2000 books, as about 200 are reference books that cannot be taken from the library.)

Borrowers, 10,000; returned, 10,000. (This means the circulation of 2000 books, as about 200 are reference books that cannot be taken from the library.)

Gifts, 10,000; returned, 10,000. (This means the circulation of 2000 books, as about 200 are reference books that cannot be taken from the library.)

During the year two Shakespearean lectures were given in the library rooms by Dr. Abbott, under the direction and supervision of the board of trustees, from which was realized $25.

A receipt also was given by Mr. Gray, assisted by Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson and Mrs. White of Granville, from which was realized $35.

The Y. M. C. A. gave the library the proceeds of a lecture by Mr. Vincent, amounting to $5.75.

The money from these entertainments was handed over to the treasurer of the board.

The library has been the recipient of some generous gifts from the citizens of Newark. The P. Smith Sons Lumber Co. gave lumber for much needed shelving, while Mr. C. C. Metz gave his time and labor in construction of same. We are, however, greatly in need of shelving.

The Ellis gave $50, which was handed to the treasurer of the board. Mr. Edward Kibler placed a telephone in the library. The Advocate and American Tribune furnish daily papers for the reading room. These two establishments have been most generous in giving gratis the use of their columns to the library cause.

The Advocate gave a beautifully bound edition of Natural History, 12 volumes.

The Chalky Spring Water Co. gave until Aug. 1 drinking water for the library and its patrons.

The Newark's Literary Club of the city have been acting in assisting by subscriptions to magazines, etc.

The following individuals have shown their interest by donations of money, books, periodicals, etc., in the past year.

Mrs. Hannah Allen, Mrs. C. C. Metz, Mrs. Arthur Sweet, Donald Ferguson, Misses Buckingham, Mrs. L. P. Franklin, Mrs. F. S. Wright, Mr. Simkins, Mrs. J. A. Mitchell, Mr. N. S. Tyler, Mr. Emmet, Bangsher, Mr. E. J. Carille, Mr. C. W. Montgomery, Mrs. Price, Mrs. Charles Fern, Mrs. John E. Dean, Mrs. Julia Cox, Mr. Frazer, Mrs. L. R. Fani, Mr. John Tucker, Mrs. H. A. Atherton, Jr., Mrs. Eugene Ball, Mr. Hilliard, Mrs. Ella Updegraff, Mrs. C. W. Montgomery, Mrs. Warren Atherton, Frank Tassell, Mrs. De Esta Hand, Bruce London, Mrs. E. S. Miller, Mr. Omar Crane, Mrs. W. Haines, Mr. Henry S. Fleck, Mrs. C. C. Rankin, Mrs. A. T. Speer, Dr. McCreary, Mrs. Geo. Greaser, Father O'Boyle, Mrs. Wm. Neal, Woodruff, Rankin, Mrs. Maria Florence Hersberger, A. L. Norton, Nellie Vance, Mrs. Mossman, Harold Franklin, Mrs. Fred Crane, James McClure, Dr. Turner, Helen Elson, Mrs. Hostinger, Boyd Neff, Ed. Ryan, Mr. E. S. Miller, Miss Christian, Newark Public Schools, Louise Sauters of Cleveland.

During the year a Library Club has been organized. The aim of the club is for the advancement of the library and to help it to be of the greatest possible benefit to the people. The club has been invaluable in its assistance, donating books, giving money, binding magazines, subscribing for magazines, showing its interest in every possible way. The club is not confined to club women, but all who are interested in the library are welcome to join it by the payment of one dollar a year.

The library is open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. In the reading room may be found many of the leading periodicals, as well as the Newark and Columbus daily papers.

Eliza J. Rankin, Librarian.

The Similarity.
"Lucky at cards, unlucky at love," quoted the wise guy.
"Well, either is simply a case of holding hands," said the simple mug. —Philadelphia Record.

EARLY FAIRS OF LICKING COUNTY

Talking about the coming Licking County Fair one of Newark's prominent citizens said that the first Licking County Agricultural society was formed in 1832. General Thomas W. Wilson was elected president, and Israel Dille secretary. The society held a fair every year on some outlots or lands adjacent to Newark, the above named officers continuing to act as late as 1885, and probably later.

The late General Lucius Smith and the late E. S. Woods served this first society as treasurer during a portion, at least, if not during the whole time that it continued to hold annual fairs, which was, as stated, certainly at least as 1835. The records of 1834 show that the former was treasurer then, Israel Dille, Esq., delivered addresses at fairs in 1833 and 1834. The list of premiums awarded at the fifth annual fair, held on the ninth and tenth days of October, 1837, aggregated only $9.50. Five dollars was the largest premium awarded to any one person, very few receiving even that small sum, and all were paid in salt spoons, desert spoons, tea spoons, sugar tongs, sauce ladles, cream ladles, butter knives and the like.

The present Licking County Agricultural society was organized in 1838. The preliminary steps for its organization were taken at their meeting in the month of January, 1838, by the Madison Turnpike Farmers' Club, which, on motion of James H. Moore, appointed a committee of three to prepare an address in favor of the encouragement of agriculture by the establishment of a county agricultural society. The committee, which consisted of Judge William O'Bannon, David Smith, Esq., and the secretary of the club, P. F. Wheeler, acted promptly, and their address was adopted by the club and published in the Newark Advocate of February 3, 1838, accompanied by some favorable editorial remarks. The address concluded with a resolution calling upon the farmers of Licking county to meet on the ensuing 15th day of March, at the court house in Newark, for the purpose of forming themselves into an association for the advancement of the interests of the agriculturists in the county. The proposed meeting was held accordingly, the officers being General O'Bannon, Taylor, president; John O'Bannon, vice president, and William S. Wright, secretary. Thirty-three persons present at that meeting having manifested a wish to organize a county agricultural society, it was, on motion of David Smith, Esq., resolved to appoint a committee of five gentlemen to report a constitution and by-laws for the government of the society, about to be formed, whereupon David Smith, Esq., General Thomas W. Wilson, Henry C. Taylor, James H. Moore and Major Eliza Warren were appointed said committee, who reported a constitution and by-laws, which were adopted by the meeting. The organization of the society was then completed by the election of officers, Thomas W. Wilson being elected president, Henry C. Taylor, vice president, Israel Dille, secretary, E. S. Woods, treasurer, and Eliza Warren, P. N. O'Bannon, Benjamin Turner, J. H. Moore and William S. Wright were chosen directors.

The fair was held October 11 and 12. Premiums to the amount of one hundred and fifty dollars and fifty cents were awarded. Addresses were delivered by Israel Dille, Esq., and by M. B. Bateham, Esq., editor of the Ohio Cultivator, an agricultural paper published in Columbus. The members of the society this year numbered 187. Since then the society has held its annual meetings, which has brought out from time to time a more or less interest in its proceedings. The Licking County Fair is a medium for the exhibition of the products of the community and it also paves the way for the yearly meeting of old friends from various parts of the county.

Do You Realize?

That despondency in women is a mental condition often traceable to some distinctly female ill!

Women who are well do not have the blues, neither are they irritable and restless. Derangement of the female organism breeds all kinds of miserable feelings such as backache, headache, and bearing-down feelings. Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There is no doubt that it has made many remarkable cures of female ills after all other means had failed. There is hardly a day that some woman does not write us that this simple old medicine, made only of roots and herbs, has cured her of a severe illness.

Here are two such letters—read them—they are genuine and reliable.

Plateau, Pa.—"When I wrote to you first I was troubled with backache and was so nervous that I would cry at the least noise, it would startle me so. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies, and I don't have any more crying spells. I sleep sound and my catarrh is better, thanks to your advice. I will recommend your medicines to all sufferers."—Mrs. Mary Halstead, Plateau, Pa., Box 98.

Walcott, N. Dakota—"I had inflammation which caused pains in my sides, and my back ached all the time. I was so blue that I felt like crying if any one even said 'How poorly you look to-day.' I wrote to you for advice and got it at once. I started to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier and Liver Pills, and I began to feel better and looked better before I finished the fourth bottle of medicine."—Mrs. Amelia Dahl, Walcott, N. Dakota.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

COURT NEWS

Motion Filed.

In the case of Wm. S. Parks vs. the Columbus Gas & Fuel Co., the defendant has filed a motion asking the court to strike out certain paragraphs from the petition of plaintiff because of their irrelevancy. Sinks & Babcock and F. M. Black, attorneys.

Brief on Motion to Make More Definite.

In the case of Wm. H. Knauss vs. Charles Bader and others, the defendants have filed a brief on motion to make more definite and certain. Defendants say the petition does not advise them whether it is claimed that they are liable upon an implied contract merely for services performed, nor does it advise them whether or not the suit is upon a written contract in which the terms are agreed upon. They say they are entitled to this. The provisions of Section 5085 of the Revised Statutes makes it the duty of the court to require a pleading indefinite and uncertain as this petition is, as to the precise nature of the charge or claim, to be made more definite and certain by amendment. Kibler & Montgomery, attorneys for defendant.

Adjudged Insane.

Mrs. Jennie Voorhees, wife of Samuel H. Voorhees, was adjudged insane Wednesday morning by Judge Seward. The patient was taken to Columbus Wednesday afternoon.

Case Settled.

The case of Pomquanz vs. the B. & O. R. Co., a young foreigner, but last year in the B. & O. yards, was settled. Jones & Jones, and Smythe & Smythe attorneys for plaintiff; Kibler & Montgomery for defendant.

Motion Filed.

Jones & Jones, as attorneys for the defendants in the case of Palmer vs. Fisher, in common pleas court, have filed a motion to dissolve the temporary injunction issued some time ago by Judge C. W. Seward.

Case Against Treasurer.

Jones & Jones, as attorneys for A. O. Kern have filed a petition against C. L. V. Holtz in common pleas court seeking to recover from Licking county $229.50 said to have been illegally collected as taxes.

Argument Heard.

The case of Fruit Dispatch Co. vs. Lisey, was argued before the circuit court, Watson, Sniffen & Davis and Jones & Jones for plaintiff; Smythe & Smythe for defendant.

DEFENSE

(Continued from Page 1.) evidence and the best legal opinion is that this will prove wholly insufficient to prove the "corpus delicti" or the identity of the person for whose supposed murder Crippen is now being tried.

Crippen appeared elated at the overthrow of Peper's testimony and staid exultingly. Even Miss Ethel Lane Leneve, who is charged with being an accessory after the fact in the alleged murder of Mrs. Crippen, became cheerful at this unexpected development. She had entered the court room with her every feature showing the utmost dejection.

Miss Leneve is rapidly breaking down. Her periods of elation today were always followed by moments of depression. That she is on the verge of a nervous collapse was shown by her convulsive actions which she made every effort to hide. Her hands twitched constantly and she turned her head in startled manner at every noise in the court room.

During the recesses Crippen and Miss Leneve shared a glass of water and exchanged a few words.

Peper testified that the person who removed the viscera of the body must have been both a student of anatomy and a clever surgical operator as the work equaled that of a professional surgeon.

Peper said that the scar on the body, by means of which the prosecution is also trying to prove the identity, was probably old.

"What makes you think the scar resulted from an operation?" Newton asked.

"Because from the nature of it and its position, it could hardly have come from an accident," Peper replied.

Peper said that two experts on behalf of the defense made a minute examination of the remains last Friday.

These experts it is expected, will be called by the defense to complete the destruction of the crown's contention that the body was that of a woman. Today's developments tend to confirm the opinion of many legal lights that the defense will have no difficulty in getting all the expert evidence it may desire in its effort to show that the identification of the remains is impossible.

The theory that troubles never come singly is what keeps many a fellow from marrying.

Retribution

By BERTHA D. ALSOP

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

He was from childhood a lady killer. As a boy in knickerbockers he had given the little girls of his acquaintance flowers and invited them to have ices with him. They were not old enough to quarrel about him, but they doted on him all the same. As a youth he resembled a young Byron with his large blue eyes, his negligee flaxen hair and round white throat. Then came young manhood. By this time he found more zest in his attentions to girls, though fewer pleased him. He and they were still young enough to feel the sweetness of a flirtation, and occasionally when the denouement came he was obliged to admit to himself that he had been stung.

He had no thought of marriage, a home, children. He didn't consider himself old enough for that. When he reached twenty-seven he began to look forward to it as something that would naturally come about. At thirty-five he wished that it would come about. At forty he began to fear that it would never come. Then it occurred to him that he had better try to bring it about. But by this time young girls had begun to consider him an elderly man. And, as for those near his own age, he had no use for them. He knew that men of forty have on rare occasions married girls half their age and both husband and wife been very happy in each other. Why not he? He resolved to make an effort.

An effort in love! He had glided naturally into so many affairs of the heart that to try to get into one seemed repugnant to him. Why had he not taken advantage of some one of these affairs to preclude the possibility of the lonely old age that was overshadowing him—why? He knew well enough why. He had always considered the game, not the reality. To have taken one of the girls he might have had would have been to give up a conquest. At least so he had regarded it at the time.

Having lost his position at home of a young man and consequently not being thrown in with young girls, he determined to go elsewhere. It was the season of outing, and he determined to go wife hunting by the sea. He had made many conquests there. Moonlight shimmering on the dancing waves had called out that which had moved many a girl to love him. True, now there were gray hairs in his moustache, and his Byronic forehead was higher than it had been, but he thought with the same surroundings he might do the trick as he had often done it before.

It was said to see a young girl pass him without looking at him, whereas twenty years ago another of her age could not have refrained from a glance. He became acquainted with several of them, but somehow there seemed a gulf between him and them that he could not cross. These were half or less than half his age. Finally he met one between twenty-five and thirty who caught his fancy. There was this, too, about her that he did not find in the younger ones—they surprised him by acting and talking in a way that seemed childish to him. They seemed to him to have grown nearer the nursery than their prototypes. Surely the girls he had associated with when he was under twenty-five were not as frivolous as these misses. The older girl, on the contrary, talked and acted like a woman. She could be a companion to him.

He made up his mind that if he could win her he would do so. He made a few abortive efforts to make love as he would have made it fifteen or twenty years before. What he would have said and looked and acted then now seemed insipid to him. He desisted, contenting himself with the girl's companionship and showing her little attentions.

One thing troubled him. Though she accepted his attentions and listened to his chat, she did not seem to be impressed with his superior wisdom. He felt that, while she attended to what he said, she knew more of the subject he was talking about than he knew himself. Surely there was nothing near the nursery here. He was uncomfortable at the thought that this young woman felt him intellectually beneath her. It was rather that he felt her to be his superior.

When the season was drawing to a close he wished to bring matters to a focus. This used to be easy enough when he was a youngster playing a game. But now that he was a middle-aged man, intending to tell a mature young woman that he loved her and ask her to be his wife, it seemed that the many times he had done the same thing came up to mock him.

However, he got it out. "How times change!" she said. "A dozen years ago, when I was sixteen, you proposed to me, and you did it beautifully. Then I thought you a god. Now, being older, I know you for a very admirable and pleasant gentleman. I thank you for the honor done me, but I am not now inclined to marry."

He looked at her with a dazed expression, vainly trying to recall her as she was. But about the time of their former meeting he had proposed to two many girls to enable him to distinguish her from the rest. He arose in silence and retired.

He returned disengaged and is still a bachelor. His forehead extends to the back of his neck, his teeth are going, and he is alone.

MY DOCTOR

MIGHTY FINE

Mrs. Hattie Cain of Carrsville Thinks all the More of Her Doctor Since He Advised Her to Take Cardui.

Carrsville, Ky.—"My doctor," writes Mrs. Hattie Cain, "who advised me to take Cardui, for my troubles, is a mighty fine doctor, and I say God bless Cardui, and the people who make it."

"Before I took Cardui, I suffered with female troubles for sixteen years. I would have to send for a doctor every three months, and oh! how dreadfully I suffered!"

"I would cramp and have convulsions and it looked like I would die. At last I took Cardui and oh! what a surprise! I found it was the medicine for me!"

"From the first bottle, I began to mend and now I am well. I can do more work, can walk and go where I please and it doesn't hurt me, and I owe it all to Cardui!"

Cardui helps sick women back to health. It has been doing this for over 30 years. It is not a laxative, or a heart or kidney medicine—it is a woman's medicine.

If you are a woman, try it.
